

Follow Your Dreams

By Deni Marinska

Hold on; don't give up now.
Stop and hear this poem.
Dance along with the rhythm in your head.

Little girl, with big dreams
Living in a village full of stars.

You're going through some tough times,
So tempted to give up,
Dealing with your friends, parents on your hands.

You're surrounded by the stars, so just pick one to wish on 'cause you know that
When you wish upon a star, your wish will come true.

Follow your heart and don't let go of your dream,
You're so lost now, wondering, "What is this dream thing anyway?"
I can tell you what a dream is.

A dream is a desire, lying deep inside your soul.
And a dream can heal your heartaches, especially at times like this.

You really want to give up
But I have to ask you to stay,
Stop and hear this poem.

You see all those people on TV,
Dancing the night away, singing, and giving it all they can.

You know you can do that just as well, so why give up now?
You want to dance and sing like that, and be like them
You can, all you need is dedication.

Follow your dreams and they will very much come true.
What are you waiting for now, go, run and catch your star!
